

White Paper for Annata Core Systems

Annata Core Systems Case Study is clearly the only one where the emphasis is on the products. There are 32 unique products and 9 new are being launched in FY2028 and a Master Product is being launched FY2032. We are fully and completely focused on products even in Annata Core System's (from here on ACS) Dashboards. In the Dashboards time and products are the x axis dimensions.

ACS is considered no1 globally in Healing/Self Help technology products. The end result or effectiveness of their products is par none. Pure excellence is how you would describe their R&D division. This is how it is, because the Case Studies have made it so clear. Kindly review the Case Studies from this point of view.

Now let me take you through what are the documents we have prepared in the Case Study of ACS. There is the High End Investor DPR (Detailed Project Report), there is the Deck, Master Excel Report, 2 Dashboards (1 is Bespoke Dashboard the other is only Interactive), the logo and branding was also done at KS Ventures Labs. There is the Master Investment Summary – which answers to all the questions any External Capital provider will have. The Bespoke Dashboard combines both Exploratory and Explanatory aspects of Data Visualization. The Master Excel Report carries all numerical facts and figures. Annata means “Pure Inside” in Sanskrit. This is a tech demo, meaning a simulation or fictitious company created as a Case Study to show how to produce Investor Spec documentation when you are going for funding.

ACS focusses on end result or end point measurement, meaning last mile or line of sight. They measure on what is being received not what is given or sent. This is their secret to success. This is why they are a $67M company in FY2023. Their revenue has been steadily improving. The documentation gives you a clear picture of their Business Model and Transact. Also provides all that is needed for an External Capital Provider to sanction their funding of $35M.

Now when a person reads through the analysis presented in this Case Study, you will begin to appreciate how much hard work has been put into the very minute details in the documentation. For instance, it is designed specifically for the eyes of the Investor only. It is not meant to flatter the client but is presented so as to act as a bridge and connect us to the successful closure of this funding round. Painstaking effort and hard work have been put in – in order to achieve a clear successful content abridgement for the Investor. We must never consider that facts are in-correct in these case-studies this hampers a deeper understanding to occur. These are exact and true to global standard values, facts, figures and content.

ACS has learnt all that it has, through various Research papers and R&D Reports of their internal department. This has taught them, that the most important thing is for their segment in industry is no side-effects. If we are giving healing, it should be 100% healing, no disturbance even slightest to the body's minutest varied functions. This is what it means when we say, when we contribute to our customer's health, it must be perfect for the receiver not for the giver only. We are presenting a case study that can be turned into a real business right away. All details as per industry standards. We have used AI to research. We believe in nothing short of excellence hence we have paid attention to the most minutest of details in our case study documentation.

Now when we created the various documents of this case study we prepared all the charts using the most precise of details, to show what an ideal Investor Spec document would look like. This serves as a reference and example of what a client can build with the support of KS Ventures for their Investors. According to various corporates and Global Advisory Council are documentation especially Bespoke Dashboards and Investor DPR's and Investor Decks are rated as No1 in the planet.

ACS is based out of Sydney Australia, their leadership and board have authored various sections in the documentation to give Investors a real picture so that Investment can receive approval. The deck has the updated logo and each document has the basic brand colors and special accent colors. The Investment Summary is a no fluff document, straight facts, to the point and highly precise for the Investor to refer to. The Dashboard shows details previously never shown using a Power BI Dashboard.
